

Allowing cellular telephone use aboard aircraft is a bad idea. Unfortunately, too many travelers lack common sense and common courtesy on aircraft now, making air travel unpleasant at best. Adding cell phone use will inflict all of those people who presently use their cell phones loudly, incessantly, and inconsiderately on the ground upon the rest of the passengers and crew.